KZN ANNOUNCES PLAN TO END VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND CHILDREN

KwaZulu-Natal will soon have an army of champions who will promote gender equality and help reduce violence against women and children in the length and breadth of the province.

This is one of the provincial government's interventions contained in a multi-faceted plan aimed at decisively dealing with the root causes of violence against women and children announced by KwaZulu-Natal Premier, Mr Sihle Zikalala.

"We will from today start identifying champions who will be trained in promoting gender equality and reducing violence against women and children."

Our focus is on changing attitudes and promoting positive behavioural change among men.

The first step is to advocate for the positive socialisation of boys and men to respect women and to protect their dignity.

This is fundamental in preventing the abuse of our daughters, sisters, and mothers," said Zikalala.

The provincial government's plan is informed by the comprehensive national strategic plan and the emergency action plan announced by President Ramaphosa in the joint sitting of parliament on the 18th of September 2019.

At the heart of the KZN programme of action are concerted efforts to strengthen co-ordination between various government departments and other government agencies as well as to improve collaboration with stakeholders to combat the scourge of gender based violence, punish perpetrators, and support victims and survivors. Zikalala also encouraged victims of gender-based violence in KZN to make use of a 24-hour call service which is managed by qualified social workers by calling 087 158 3000. "A team of senior government officials has been formed to identify hotspots that pose a higher risk to young people getting physically harmed or harming those around them.

These will include pubs, taverns, and nightclubs that are frequented by young people, often college and university students," the Premier said.

The KZN Liquor Authority will play an active role in monitoring the identified areas through more stringent regulations on trading hours and actively promoting anti gender based violence messages at liquor outlets.

The provincial government will also embark on a massive campaign to mobilise local communities to support victims and their families.

This will occur in their homes, at police stations, and courts. This campaign will also monitor progress on cases, campaign against bail and parole for those charged with gender based crimes and demand harsher sentences for those found guilty of abusing women and children.

"Government is also of the view that poverty, lack of skills, unemployment and gender inequality increases the dependency of women on men and thus their vulnerability to abuse," he said.

"In order to turn around this unideal situation, we have to vigorously pursue our radical economic transformation programme, particularly as it relates to the emancipation of women and the youth.

"In this regard, the provincial government targets 30% set asides for women, youth and SMME.

Also, by 2024, 50 % of government spend on entrepreneurship will be given to women owned and led business," the Premier concluded.

PORTE MYAKAYAKA

This is the mantra of the KwaZulu-Natal Department of Human Settlements during the month of September as it embarked on an extensive title deed hand over campaign to assert security of tenure for many beneficiaries across the length and breadth of the Province.

In South Africa, the ownership of property is an emotional issue.

That is why it is important for Municipalities, in conjunction with the Department, to empower residents by giving them ownership of their homes.

The lives of 635 families in Wards 17 (Ambleton) and 18 (Edendale BB) changed forever when the Honourable, MEC for Human Settlements and Public Works, Ms Peggy Nkonyeni together with the Honourable Premier, Mr Sihle Zikalala ensured that they became home owners.

The 367 beneficiaries from Ambleton and 268 from Edendale BB were given rightful ownership of their houses in line with the Department's Title Deeds Restoration Programme (TRP) which is currently being fist-tracked. The MEC was pleased to note that the TRP has allowed qualifying residents to benefit and will assist in addressing the backlog of title deeds.

The Premier reminded beneficiaries that they were now responsible for the care of their property and to ensure that it grows

OPERATION KHAWULEZA HURRIES UP SERVICE DELIVERY

The KZN Provincial Government under the leadership of Premier Sihle Zikalala, on Thursday, 19 September launched the R160-million Operation Khawuleza programme in Newcastle in the Amajuba District.

This programme, implemented through the Department of Cooperative Governance and Traditional Affairs (Cogta) under the leadership of MEC Sipho Hlomuka, will see millions of rand worth of plant machinery which includes graders, TLBs, waste trucks, honey suckers, rollers and the like handed over to municipalities so that they can deliver speedy services to communities.

Speaking at the launch, Premier Zikalala emphasised government's commitment to capacitating municipalities so that they can take care of the needs of communities.

"What we have launched today is an unprecedented and groundbreaking intervention aimed at capacitating municipalities to respond to service delivery challenges that have sparked dissatisfaction in communities.

As the provincial government, we are determined to see our communities receive adequate services from our municipalities," said Zikalala.

In his address, Cogta MEC Hlomuka called upon community members to protect the machinery that is being given to their municipalities since it will be used to service their needs. "With this plant equipment, municipalities will be better able to respond to your needs as communities. If there is a pothole or a broken water pipe, municipalities will now have the equipment to attend to it.

This equipment comes at no cost to municipalities and we expect them to utilise it because every month we will be monitoring the usage of this equipment," said Hlomuka. Mayor of Newcastle, Cllr Ntuthuko Mahlaba, who was the first mayor to receive this equipment, has committed to ensuring that this critical tool is utilised efficiently and effectively in service to the people of Newcastle.

"We are honoured to have received this equipment since now this municipality will not have to hire plant equipment and this will allow us to divert our scarce resources towards other pressing service delivery needs of our communities," said Mahlaba.

"As the provincial government, we are determined to see our communities receive adequate services from our municipalities," said Zikalala.

KwaZulu-Natal Premier, Sihle Zikalala, together with MEC Sipho Hlomuka, MEC Hlengiwe Mavimbela, Amakhosi and local Mayors of Amajuba officially launched Operation Khawuleza at the Gama Sports Ground, Johnstone Farm in Newcastle.

500 GRADUATES TO BE HIRED

The Department of Cooperative Governance and Traditional Affairs (Cogta) under the leadership of MEC Sipho Hlomuka has embarked on bold action, in efforts to strengthen the capacity within municipalities.

Hlomuka has announced the massive roll out of a graduate placement programme which is spearheaded by the department, and will see the hiring of 500 graduates in the areas of Engineering, Supply Chain, Finance, Spatial Planning and other scarce skill areas.

"These graduates will be deployed to municipalities with the aim of capacitating them so that they can better respond to the challenges of our communities" said Hlomuka.

This programme, comes in the wake of the assessment that was done by Cogta on the functionality of municipalities. These assessment revealed a number of short comings of municipalities which include the lack of capacity and many power in critical skill areas.

This intervention which will see the graduate recruited by the department and placed at municipalities is part of Cogta's to reposition local government in the province to be at the driving seat of service delivery.

The recruitment process, according Cogta MEC Sipho Hlomuka, will commence in the next 60 days, and graduated from across the province will be prioritised.

"This project is expected to cost over R60 million over a period of 2 years and is a game changer for local government and efforts by the provincial government to ensure that youth is injected in the sphere of local government.

We will also ensure that the recruitment process is conducted in a fair and transparent manner," said Hlomuka.

HLOMUKA MOVES TO STABILISE LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Cooperative Governance and Traditional Affairs MEC, Sipho Hlomuka on Thursday, 19 September, hosted a Summit with the municipalities in the Amajuba District Family of municipalities.

The meeting, which was dubbed as a Joint Exco, brought together Councillors, Mayors and Amakhosi under the Amajuba District where the Premier of the Province, Mr Sihle Zikalala, together with Hlomuka, released the assessment report, which was conducted on this municipality.

The assessment report seeks to change the state of affairs, and is a response to the Premier's directive that "we must make local government work better for our people".

The report, which was conducted in partnership with Provincial Treasury, comprised a comprehensive assessment of the state of local government and was conducted on all the province's municipalities.

"This process has been characterised by engagements with Mayors, Speakers, Councillors, Municipal Managers, senior officials, and key stakeholders," says Hlomuka. Teams made up of officials from the provincial Cogta visited all municipalities and interrogated key focal areas, such as governance, financial health and service delivery.

"Specifically, our assessment of municipalities, centred around three focal areas, sought to:

- Determine the level of stability and functionality of the municipality including political, administrative and community systems and processes;
- Evaluate financial management and viability at the municipality; and
- Establish the effectiveness of the municipality in delivering quality services to the community."
